DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Receipt of applicant's amendment filed 4/7/2005 is acknowledged.

Drawings

2. The drawings filed 3/15/2004 are accepted by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-7 and 12-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5,832,915 to Skidmore et al. ("Skidmore") in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,909,729 to Nowicke, Jr. ("Nowicke").

Skidmore discloses in Figs. 1-12 an invention similar to that described in applicant's claims 1-7 and 12-17. In particular, Skidmore discloses a combination fireplace and grill that includes a base (21), a removable fire pit central housing in the form of a foraminous screen (38), a lid (23), food support grid (36, 37) and heat source/combustible material support (35) (see col.

Art Unit: 3749

3, lines 58-65). The device of Skidmore is operable as both a fire pit and a barbecue grill (see col. 3, lines 66-67) and includes the necessary supports for each use.

Skidmore does not disclose the use of a smoker attachment in order to use the device in a smoker mode.

Nowicke teaches a barbecue grill in the same field of endeavor as Skidmore. In Nowicke a grill base (10) includes an optional smoker attachment (15) in the form of a central housing with a cylindrical, removable, solid/substantially impervious wall (see Fig. 2). The smoker attachment allows the grill to be converted for use as a food smoker.

Therefore, in regard to claims 1-7 and 12-17, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the grill assembly of Skidmore to incorporate the smoker attachment of Nowicke as smoker attachments are recognized in the art to desirably function to enhance the flavor of food products used in a grill assembly (see Nowicke, col. 1, lines 50-52).

5. Claims 8 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Skidmore in view of Nowicke as applied to claims 1 and 12 above, and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 3,915,145 to Tomita ("Tomita").

Skidmore in view of Nowicke teach all the limitations of claims 8 and 18 except that the base includes an accessible door.

Tomita teaches a barbecue grill in the same field of endeavor as Skidmore. In Fig. 10 of Tomita a base portion (132) includes a door (189).

Art Unit: 3749

Therefore, in regard to claims 8 and 18, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the grill base of Skidmore to incorporate the door of Tomita for the desirable purpose of allowing access to the base to permit insertion of a combustible fuel (see Tomita, col. 8, lines 23-25).

6. Claims 9 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Skidmore in view of Nowicke as applied to claims 1 and 12 above, and further in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,960,788 to Bach et al. ("Bach").

Skidmore in view of Nowicke teach all the limitations of claims 9 and 19 except possibly for a foraminous door in the fire pit housing.

Bach teaches a portable outdoor fireplace that includes a foraminous screen assembly (56) similar to that shown in Skidmore. The screen of Bach includes a foraminous door (92).

Therefore, in regard to claims 9 and 19, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the screen of Skidmore to incorporate the door of Bach to desirably allow access to the insertion of the screen assembly (see Bach, col. 5, lines 37-45).

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 10 and 11 are allowed.

Art Unit: 3749

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art does not teach or suggest the combination barbecue, smoker and fire pit assembly having the combination of structural features and relationships recited in claims 10 and 11.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments filed 4/7/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Skidmore and Nowicke are not properly combinable because Skidmore has a base with angled sidewalls and a flat bottom while Nowicke has a hemispherical base. However, the examiner is not relying upon the structure of the base of Nowicke to modify the primary reference of Skidmore. Instead, Nowicke is cited to show the use of a smoker attachment in the art. Accordingly, applicant's argument is not considered relevant to the combination proposed by the examiner.

Applicant also argues that none of the references relied upon show a heat source support that is movable between an upper and lower position in the base of the assembly. First it is noted that the heat source support (35) of Skidmore is clearly movable with respect to the base (see Fig. 2). This support would therefore be capable of movement to any position and meets the limitation of a heat source support that is movable appearing in applicant's claims.

Applicant also argues that the prior art relied upon does not show an impervious smoker central housing that is removable from the base. However, as noted above, the smoker housing/sleeve (15) of Nowicke is clearly substantially impervious. Further, this housing/sleeve is described as an "adapter" for barbecue grills, the base of the grill of is described as being arranged to "receive" the housing/sleeve, and the housing/sleeve is described as being handles separately from the grill base (see Nowicke, col. 3, lines 6-10). Accordingly, a person of ordinary skill in the art would understand this housing/sleeve to be a substantially impervious central housing that is removable from the base as recited in applicant's claims.

Therefore, the examiner considers that applicant's claims 1-9 and 12-19 do not read over the prior art of record.

Conclusion

10. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
